

Artificial Intelligence and Law with Applications

Hunan Sany Polytechnic College.

Changsha, Hunan China P. R. C.

Yihui Sun, Jiaoyi Wu, Shiru Lan and Yong Wu

Artificial intelligence and law is a new discipline. Although it only has a history of a few decades, its development closely follows the leaps and bounds of AI. At present, artificial intelligence and law develops rapidly worldwide. In order to help people better understand the development of this new discipline, this paper summarizes main topics of artificial intelligence and law, following its rapid development internationally, discusses some important problems in the new discipline of artificial intelligence and law, and put forwards some valuable problems worthy of our study in artificial intelligence and law.